SEPTEMBER

Greetings!

Days are passing so quickly and it is almost the end of September. In three more months, the year 2007 will be over.

Activity Room

In our history during the Roman year, September was the seventh month of the year. In Latin, the word septem means "seven" and septimus means "seventh" but the course of events had changed it. When they had adapted the Gregorian calendar, September became the ninth month of the year.

There is no other special occasion to celebrate in September but the administrators and teachers are quite busy planning and doing something for the school's improvement. Recently a new sound system has been installed. Every day, students hear different kinds of music that will (hopefully) inspire them especially during their outdoor activities.

A new, more spacious activity room for the Kindergarten was also created.

Here, mattresses are laid on the floor for the students' protection. Different kind of toys were also provided.

Now students in this level will have a chance to enjoy doing their activities. Teachers on the other hand, plan and prepare their lessons during their free-time. In this issue of our newsletter, you will know some of the lessons and activities that they prepared and taught to the students.

Lesson...Activities...Etc.

Apple Tree

They learned about the different parts of a tree.

They enjoyed tracing and painting the parts of the "Apple Tree". They learned the Nursery Rhymes "Star Light, Star Bright".

Their next lesson will be about the "Different Kinds of Transportation". Nursery Rhymes "Yankee Doodle"

Johnny Appleseed

This few weeks Kg. 2 students have learned about Johnny Appleseed who was the first one to plant the apple trees all over America.

We recite a poem about apples.

We learn the sound of /a/. For Math, we enjoy counting seeds and making patterns.

We try to taste apples that have different colors and we find out

Blake does not enjoy eating apples, but like painting the apple trees. Prim gets busy making an apple booklet.

Outdoor Car Wash

Outdoor Car Wash

We encourage Kg. 3 students to participate water play activity in this warm weather.

Materials : Riding cars, sponges, and bucket of soapy water.

The Kg 3 students pretend to be car washers. They promote sharing and cooperating when they work together, washing the cars. The Kg. 3 students love this activity.

Wisdom

One of the great wisdom is reading skill.

The grade 1 students are encouraged to do daily reading of stories and short paragraph to measure their reading accuracy as well as reading comprehension.

They are now in preparation for higher level of learning.

They know the four different kinds of sentences, and are quite good recognising them.

Statues of Easter Island

Last few weeks, we were doing an art project. The project was one of the new Seven Wonders of the World, and the thing we chose was the statues of Easter Island.

The materials that we used were cardboard, tissue roll, tape, glue, cutter, food coloring, poster paint, flour, crayon and water.

First, we measured the cardboard into three different sizes to make the shape. Then we taped it into the

Greetings

The new term is well under way and all students have settled down to their studies. They are also getting used to their new teacher, me - Mr. Jim. I am an American from Los Angeles, California. I grew up in a multicultural environment which allows me to influence students through my teaching to be open-minded and free thinkers. My degree is in Outdoor Education and have been teaching for over 15 years in the United State, Mexico and now Thailand. I use my education everyday to provide a positive classroom environment through BF Skinner's theory of "reinforcement", Jean Piaget's play theory, Dr. Ned Culler's approach to "tough love" as well as using Howard Gardner's Multiple Intelligences methods. My teaching goal is not to teach children English but to educate them to be well-rounded individuals, able to think for themselves and ultimately become positive global citizens.
