

1st Anniversary of New campus

October 19th was a very special day for Kevalee. We celebrated our new campus 1st Anniversary. It was an honor to have Fr. Travis from RIS to join the ceremony with us. He is so kind to forward the following message to us:

“I am so happy that I had the chance to be at Kevalee International School for the First Anniversary, and to celebrate Juliana’s Birthday with the teachers and students!!! I certainly was impressed with the school, the happiness of the children, efforts of the teachers, and for the beautiful buildings and grounds. I feel that God is blessing your family, and that blessings will grow and grow for Kevalee. Good spirit and sacrifice are very scriptural, producing good fruit!!! I pray that God showers big blessings on your family, enabling the school to prosper.”

DREAM

Some people see things
as they are and ask why.
Others dream things that never were and ask why not.

At last! first quarter is over and we finished many topics in Values Education. As of now, we are discussing “Freedom of Choice”. This topic encourages the students to think about the consequence of his/her decisions before acting on them. For the higher level we are talking about “Valuing My Parents and Friends, and Communicating with Others”. We put emphasis on loving, respecting and showing appreciation to our parents and others.

In music, we are busy practising dancing steps for the Halloween Day entitled “Thriller Night” by Michael Jackson. Hope we can perform well. We are also practising musical play, tambourine dance, and choral singing for Christmas Program. Students from higher levels are doing song analysis and research work about pop music. Students have found time expressing themselves artistically during our arts and crafts time. This year we have an art room where they can do painting, coloring, printing and cutting. They are trained to use the art tools properly, love and respect their work as well as the work of others. We are doing some Halloween projects for this month, like skeleton puppet, Jack-O-Lantern, and paper bag monsters piñata craft.

See who is the best artist like Michael Angelo!

KG. 1

They learned about the "Community helpers" In the picture they were able to identify each duty and responsibility. They enjoyed pretending to be a doctor, nurse, dentist, vet, teacher, cook, fireman and even a street sweeper.

They were able to express their ambition what they would like to be when they grew up.

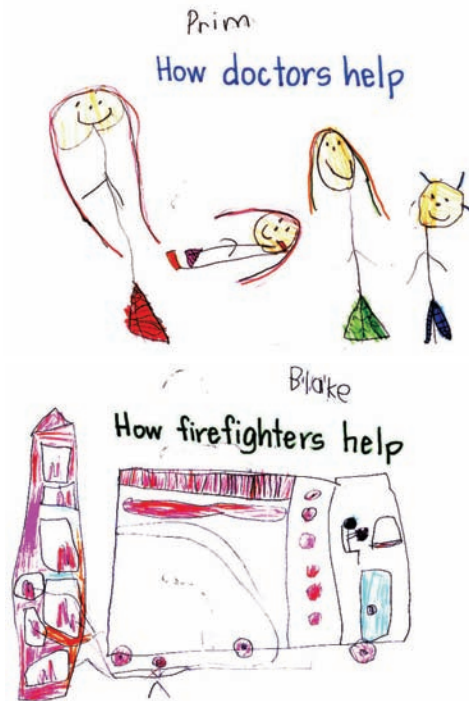

Primmy and Nic want to be teachers, Jorgen TK and Film want to be policemen while Pai wants to be a doctor.

Our theme for this month is about community helpers.

We have learned about the duties and responsibilities of each and the place where they work.

We also have discussed how community helpers help people. We love drawing pictures to show how community helpers help people.

Seed Germination

The Grade 1 students had their first experiment based on Science processes skills. They grew seeds! Each student chose a kind of seed they wanted to grow.

In this activity, Grade 1 students learned to observe and write data about the changes occurred in their seeds. They also learned to work well together. That's all about creative learning.

Grade 1 students were excited to know how seeds germinate.

Headline-Deadline!

The Grade 2 students read the story, "Deadline!" This story tells how newspapers are made and how important it is to finish before the deadline. They learned the steps on how to make newspapers and their parts. They brought old newspapers to class and name each part.

To make it more fun and exciting, the Grade 2 students pretended to be reporters. They gathered news stories. They interviewed people at school and write news about them. They write and rewrite their own stories. They had fun being reporters!

Grade 2 Newspapers will be released soon, before the deadline!

We hope you will have time to read it.

Kon Tiki Mask

Earlier this year Lamsum approached me with an idea about making a mask and portraying it as an Easter Island head. It was a challenge, but fortunately I was able to locate via the web an individual who had already made one. So we took the general plans which required cardboard, tape, and toilet rolls, and went to work. First we made an oversized version which obviously was just too big to be on Lamsum's shoulders. Realizing our mistake we quickly measured again and created a smaller head about the right size for Lamsum. This would be the beginning of a second Kon Tiki head.

What I really like about this project is not the object we are creating, but the thoughtful look Greetings!

Now that the first quarter is over, I can begin to really assess our students. I will work on their weaknesses and continue to support their strengths.

As the semester rolls on, we are focusing on more content. We are developing and strengthening research skills in the subject of Social Studies for grades 3 and 7&8.

We are putting together reports, gathering data from our readings in the text books as well as learning to use the internet for further support. The result will create a self-confident student who is able to ask good questions and be able to communicate their discoveries.

I am also looking forward to Halloween, which is one of my favorite holidays. Many people ask why? Because I can be anything I want for one whole day! The students and I are also learning about how other cultures celebrate Halloween. We are learning about Mexico and the "Day of the Dead" or Dia De Los Muertos." Here people celebrate those that have lived before us. Mexicans continue to celebrate the memories of their ancestors. We hope to do the same at our school! BOO!

Another New Student

The Grade 7-8 class is happy to announce that a new student has joined the group. Her name is Asuka. She is half Japanese-half Thai, who comes from Tokyo. Welcome to Kevallee, Asuka! We will surely take good care and help her to improve her English in this near future.
